Rehabilitation Work on State Route 299 in Redding Resumes

REDDING – The California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) has resumed work on the $9.5 million Eureka Way Rehabilitation Project on State Route 299, for the summer. Projected completion is anticipated to take approximately three weeks. With the exception of one weekend of final phase pavement construction, the majority of the work will occur during weeknights. Motorists may experience slight delays. Detours around the closures will be available.

Weekend work, currently scheduled June 18 through June 21, 2004, that will complete the final phase of pavement reconstruction, includes placing concrete at the intersection of Pioneer Street and Eureka Way and the intersection of Court Street and Eureka Way, up to the overhead structure. Weeknight work includes colored concrete construction of all crosswalks on Eureka Way, pavement grinding for a smoother surface from Pioneer Street to Court Street and miscellaneous clean-up work.

The project extends from Iron Mountain Road, west of Redding, to Court Street, and has included pavement sawcutting, jackhammering, concrete curb, gutter and sidewalk installation or replacement, drainage and underground pipe replacement and traffic signal improvements and upgrades.

Motorists are asked to reduce their speed and drive with caution when approaching the construction zone.
